123.3. Public Participation

District Councillor Tracy Coward updated the Parish Council on schemes which may be of use to the local community for the elderly or people on benefits which will give help with insulation for homes, security for homes.

There is also a new District Councillor Ian Wharton, who along with Tracy has set up a facebook page which provides information of benefit to the community.

Tracy also mentioned complaints from local residents regarding the increase of antisocial behaviour from people wild camping and leaving their rubbish, lighting fires and toilet waste being left. It was discussed that the policing of the wild camping in the area was not possible by the land owners due to lack of staff resources and time but the antisocial behaviour was something that should be dealt with by the police.

Tracy is concerned with waste from large events not being recycled and just put in general waste, so is looking into which waste service large events use, with the hope to trying and encourage event organisers, to use waste service providers who will recycle waste.
